

X-59

Watch Party!

January 12, 2024

NASA Aeronautics and Lockheed Martin Skunk Works will be unveiling the X-59, and you're invited to host a watch party.

We'd like to celebrate with you as we reflect on the past five years of work on the X-59 and get ready for its first flight. The Rollout Ceremony will live stream the unveiling of the X-59 after it's painted. We hope you can tune in virtually and host your very own watch party. We've built a virtual watch party map to highlight all of you planning to celebrate with us.

If you're interested and would like us to add you to our map, reach out to aeroSTEM@nasa.onmicrosoft.com. Hope you can join us!

